Mars Hill

College - 1955

. . . WHEN THE SAINTS GO MARCHING IN . . .

What phrase at Mars Hill connotes more ebullient spirit and enthusiasm? What phrase exemplifies more triumph and unity?

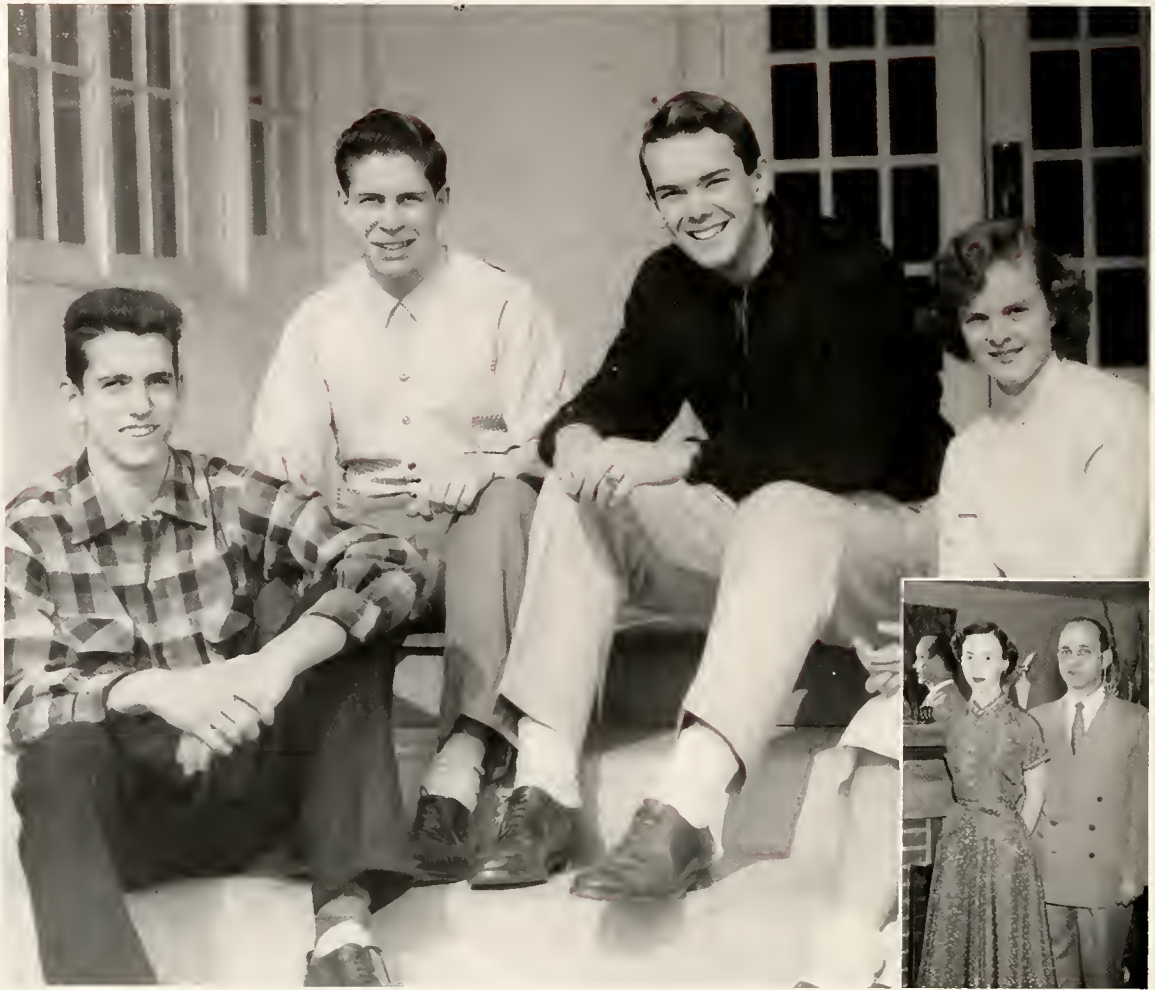

This is one of the first strains a student hears as he explores the campus. Its words are carried from the dorms to ball games and to other campus activities. It is sung when there is victory; it is sung when there is defeat; it is sung to express in a cadent way a student's devotion to Mars Hill College.

Not to be satirical, but to show the "student-saint" becoming a member of the community "Heaven On Earth" otherwise known as Mars Hill — the staff has chosen this syncopated hymn as the theme for the 1955 LAUREL.

JUNIOR CLASS

When the "junior-saints" arrive on campus, they suffer from a disease diagnosed as "wing-shaking." Registration lines, moving into a room, parties, getting acquainted, trying to be in class on time, and homesickness cause the disease. Recovery is almost immediate; the "junior-saints" are soon engulfed in the heavenly atmosphere, studies, and society.

CAMPUS SCENES

Cloud-topped mountains lend a definite unearthly touch to the old, ivy-covered buildings, which almost a century of progress is replacing, and to the newer structures as well. The focal points of all activities are these campus scenes which bear in their very outlines the traditions of Mars Hill College.

ADMINISTRATION

As the "student-saints" become acquainted with the Administration, they find the same helpful, friendly attitude which they found in their fellow students. Classes sometimes become dull; the Administration sometimes has to prod a student into action. Most of the time, however, the relationship between student and Administration is harmonious.

PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT HOYT BLACKWELL

The Master Teacher said, centuries ago, ". . . whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be slave of all." I crave no higher privilege than that of being an active member of a college family who demonstrate in practice the spirit of this scripture.

"Daddy" Blackwell raises his hand in the familiar greeting which is as much a part of the tradition of Mars Hill College as the motto, "plain living and high thinking," that he upholds in his duties as President of the College.

ACTIVITIES

The "student-saint" gets his wings polished as he participates in the various activities to which he is invited, such as religious organizations, society, honor clubs, and music groups. At such functions the "student-saint" may show off his talent for "harp-strumming," "celestial harmonizing," or "ethereal oratory."

HONOR CLUBS

After the first semester has ended and report cards are out, the "student-saints" making thirty quality points or more are invited to become members of the various honor clubs. There is much heavenly disorder as the students decide which club to join; the final decision is based upon a student's favorite field of study. The students learn that they must maintain a "B" average in the representative course and a passing grade in all other subjects to retain membership in an honor club. They also learn that honor clubs are something to be proud of and to enjoy — especially the social hour and the refreshments following the meetings!

CHOIR

This year, the College Choir has really lived up to its name. Invitations have taken it to Charlotte, Greensboro, Burlington, Asheville, and Marshall; but the big trip of the year was the tour to Florida, where the Choir filled many engagements. Every two weeks, on Saturday, the "student-saints" eagerly await the posting of the "heavenly scroll" — otherwise known as the HILLTOP. As they read news of events to come and those which have already occurred, the students are aware of the superiority of their newspaper. It has been rated first among junior colleges in North Carolina. Once a year, in the spring, the HILLTOP publishes a literary edition which includes the best work of the students. The HILLTOP staff works hard to assure the students of up-to-date information, but they are repaid when they hear a student exclaim, "Did you see the HILLTOP today!"

THE LAUREL

A theme for the 1955 LAUREL — What do the students want? What will we use? Where will we get it? These questions were before the staff when suddenly — a vision: Saints winging their way to Mars Hill College as juniors and leaving as seniors—"When the Saints Go Marching In . . . That's it! That will be the theme . . . WHEN THE SAINTS GO MARCHING IN. . ."

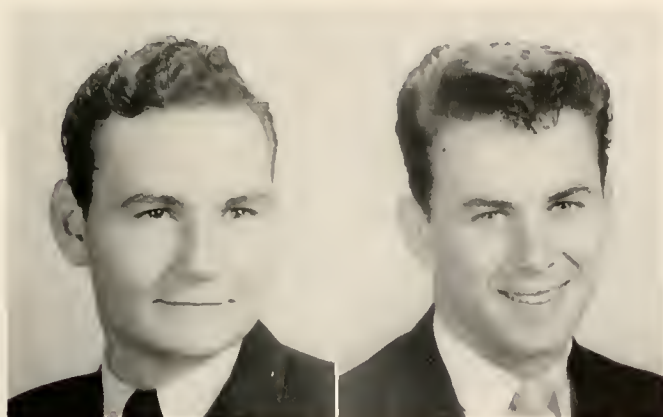

Thus, we put aside our dignity, garbed ourselves in wings and halos, and imagined that Spilman 113 was filled with clouds.

After padding our vocabulary with lofty phrases, we began to carry out a program of canonization. Once in a while, however, we had to come out of the nimbus and do some manual labor.

MR. PRESTON C. STRINGFIELD
Photographer

It was during periods of earthly existence that we consumed black coffee and aspirin. Menial tasks, such as scheduling photographs, finding missing persons, and proofreading copy, were not in accord with our ecstatic preoccupation. Our "Saint-Adviser," Mr. Chapman, pulled us from the clouds often enough to meet deadlines. "Pop" Stringfield, our "Saint-Photographer," flitted around with his picture box, photographing students and faculty members. Our Artists, Fred Crisp and Jim Lee made the Saints visible. Jackson Hooper, Larry Austin, and Ivan Joslin, our Business Staff, provided means for the Saints to subsist. Our Editorial Staff explained why the Saints glow and why they represent Mars Hill College.

Since our dream has now become a reality, we have returned to the clouds to watch others become acquainted with our portrayal of "Heaven On Earth."

FEATURES

The "student-saints" deserving star-flecked wings were chosen for the following pages. Being a good citizen of the saintly realm and possessing beauty were the bases upon which decisions were made. The ten beautiful girls and the May Court are evidence that their fellow-saints selected wisely.

The 1955 Laurel

Mars Hill College

Mars Hill, North Carolina

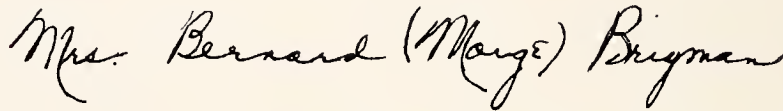

Dear Colleen,

It was certainly an honor to be asked to select "Miss Laurel of 1955." It was a hard decision for me to make, as all the contestants were very attractive girls.

I have chosen Reba not only because she is a beautiful girl, but also because to me she represents the typical American college girl.

I do appreciate this privilege and if I may be of help in the future, please do not hesitate to call on me.

Very truly yours,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Mrs. Bernard (Marge) Brigman". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned above the typed name.

About the Selector . . .

Marge Brigman, a former student at Mars Hill College, completed her education at Meredith and Wake Forest Colleges. She then enrolled in the Washington's School of Fashion. Her work there was so successful that she was photographed by leading Washington newspapers and Capital Airlines. After a very outstanding career in Washington, Mrs. Brigman returned to Asheville and became Fashion Coordinator and Model for Bon Marche. She is now living in Marshall, where her husband is principal of the high school.

ATHLETICS

It is for the "athletic-saints" that much enthusiasm is demonstrated. They are loved and cheered on, win or lose: that is a big part of the school spirit of Mars Hill College. The athletes are recognized for their good sportsmanship and teamwork, which, in itself, is enough to merit the title "saint."

FOOTBALL IN RETROSPECT

The Mars Hill College Mountain Lions marched into the football season with high hopes for victory. The final 2-3-1 record left them tied with Gardner-Webb for second place in Conference standings. Six men from the Mars Hill team were placed on the Western Carolina Junior College all-conference team. They were Paul Shaw, Freddy Bibb, Jackie Powers, Mike Miller, "Shag" Hughes, and Bobby Robinson. The traditional Thanksgiving game with Asheville-Biltmore was the final game of the season. Early in December, the annual Athletic Banquet was held, honoring the team and the cheerleaders, and officially closing the football season.

HOME COMING

The crowning of Miss Kitzi Miller as Homecoming Queen and Mrs. Anne Robinson as Football Queen highlighted the half-time ceremonies of the Thanksgiving Day game between Mars Hill and Asheville-Biltmore. Co-captains Mike Miller and "Shag" Hughes crowned the Football Queen; Dr. Hoyt Blackwell crowned the Homecoming Queen. Attending the two queens were Shirley Mayberry, sponsor for the C-I class; Edna June Funk, sponsor for the C-II class; Carolyn Hart, sponsor for the M-Club; and Jula Royal, sponsor for the Band.

BASKETBALL

The Mars Hill Mountain Lions worked themselves up to the Western Carolinas Junior College Tournament with the help of all-conference stars Bobby Robinson and Harris McGirt. The Lions had an average of 71.7 for the year, against 75.5 for the opposition. Team members are as follows:

DEDICATION

She is always cheering the saints. She is usually found in the background, encouraging them in their school spirit. She has served Mars Hill College in this capacity for ten years — maintaining her same smiling personality throughout any difficult situations that may have arisen. Because she is always there “When the Saints Go Marching In . . .” we dedicate the 1955 LAUREL to COACH VIRGINIA HART.

ADVERTISERS

Some fortunate "Saints" have successful friends in the business world. These friends have become "patron-saints" by buying ads which helped finance the '55 LAUREL. The winged individuals of Mars Hill College, knowing no other way to show their appreciation, would like to say "thank you" to the supporting businessmen.

Sincere appreciation is extended to the student body for their loyal patronage. We are glad to have been of service to you.

C-I's Congratulations!
